Improv & Body Awareness

APPLY HERE

Dear you,

If you would like to bring more aliveness and playfulness to your work (and private life), if you want more spontaneity and creativity around you and if you would like to connect with people beyond words, then JOIN US for this 5-weeks Training Course on Body Awareness and Improv Theatre!

We designed this course for youth and social workers, ESC mentors and volunteers, coaches and trainers who want to enrich their toolkit and find new communication channels to connect with their clients.

This course will improve your communication skills, you will learn how to centre and ground your body, how to be aware of your emotions and be more confident when it comes to improvisation.

Learning outcomes

Body Awareness

We will work with our bodies in simple exercises, we will explore how our thoughts form emotions and then how our emotions affect and shape our behaviour. We will practice centring and grounding that can bring balance in your daily life and support your performance in situations when you feel stress.

Storytelling

We will do together storytelling exercises and explore some basic storytelling techniques that you can use in your daily life: work, pitching, with friends and loved ones. They will make you better storyteller and support you to easily catch the attention when you speak.

Improv Theatre

We will learn to use Improv when working with people so that we can bring spontaneity and communicate better.
