INTRODUCTION

In today's fast-paced world, possessing technical film-making and editing skills has become a necessity for young people. Not only do these skills open up new career opportunities, but they also promote cultural inclusion and provide a platform for young people to tell their stories.

During the six day training course, you'll master the art of visual storytelling and develop essential skills in deduction, inference, and translation between words and images. You'll learn how to use multimedia technology to tell compelling stories that capture the essence of your community and engage your audience. The project is directed at youth workers and youth leaders who wish to improve their skills to create and stimulate more engaging learning experiences for their communities.

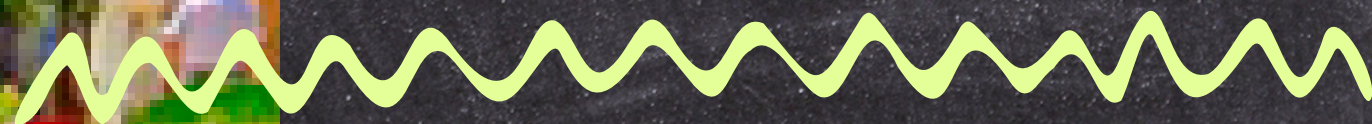

PROJECT OVERVIEW

25 people from 6 different countries will gather in the beautiful small town of Gotse Delchev, Bulgaria to immerse themselves in the world of film and video creation.

You will learn to research, storyboard, shoot, edit sound and video and promote digital stories so you can aid communication in your communities back home.

WHAT CAN YOU GET OUT OF THIS?
